

Implementing Best Practices & Educating Lawyers: Teaching Skills and Professionalism Across the Curriculum

Workshop
2B

Introducing ILs to "Thinking Like a Lawyer"

Debra R. Cohen

University of Baltimore School of Law

Debra Cohen is an Associate Professor at Southern New England School of Law where she has served as Associate Dean of Academic Affairs and Interim Assistant Dean of Academic Services. She has been teaching law for over fifteen years. She taught at West Virginia University College of Law, and has visited at Emory University School of Law, University of Richmond T.C. Williams School of Law, and Roger Williams University School of Law. She is currently visiting at the University of Baltimore.

Professor Cohen graduated with distinction from Emory University School of Law. Before entering legal academia, she was a general practice associate at Sullivan & Cromwell in New York, where she focused on mergers and acquisitions, and associate counsel for a children's publisher.

In addition to Contracts, she teaches Business Organizations, Civil Procedure, Consumer Protection, Interviewing and Counseling, Legal Drafting, and Payment Systems. She currently serves as a member of the Computer Assisted Legal Instruction (CALI) Editorial Board. She was a CALI Business Law Fellow and participates in the CALI Podcasting project. She also taught a short course on International Business Transactions at the Universidad de Moncton.